"Teens to Teens" Outreach

"Creatively Impacting The World For Christ"

"Not a Word" subtly portrays the struggle of a teenage girl, Caitlyn, whose soccer coach shows inappropriate interest in her. Through Caitlyn's unfortunate experience, audience members are empowered with tools for self protection and sexual abuse awareness.

In a world where sex abuse takes many forms, young victims are too often left with paralyzing feelings of guilt, shame and fear. The fact that the vast majority of abuse victims know their abusers make this issue even more difficult to address.

Homeward Bound Theatre Company's "Teens to Teens" Outreach, is a non-profit, 501-C3, professional performing arts organization, committed to providing teens with choices that will help them improve their self-confidence and self-esteem. With this strong self concept, they can make better choices for themselves and resist the negative pressures they face each day of their lives.

"Teens to Teens" Outreach program is a group of young people sharing drama productions and sketches about various issues facing today's teenagers; such as premarital sex, teen pregnancy, teen violence, drugs & alcohol, peer pressure, family life, and other contemporary issues. Members have been professionally trained as actors, peer facilitators, and public speakers on current topics that are negatively affecting our country's youth.

An interactive discussion following each performance, provides time during which teens can relate to teens about their issues, questions, feelings, and concerns, as well as helping them in dealing with the pressures and challenges of today's world.
